MADAME CURIE ILL; DAUGHTER HERE TO TAKE HONORS

Mlle. Irene, 23 Years Old, to Act for Mother and Receive Degrees

FRENCH SCIENTIST HERSELF TO ARRIVE AT 6 O'CLOCK

Madame Curie, the twenty-three-year-old daughter of Madame Curie, co-discoverer of radium, arrived here at noon today to receive two degrees in behalf of her distinguished mother.

The honorary degree of doctor of medicine will be conferred by the president of the Board of Corporators of the University of Pennsylvania at 3 o'clock. The honorary degree of doctor of laws will be conferred by the University of Pennsylvania at 4:30 o'clock.

Madame Curie herself was to arrive in Philadelphia from Washington at noon, but was detained by illness resulting from fatigue.

The attractive young daughter who is to receive the degrees will stand on the stage at the University of Pennsylvania to reap the honors it took her renowned mother a lifetime to accumulate.

Discovered in the Pullman car coming from Washington this morning, she had her pretty head of brown-gold curls waving a bit wearily on the arm of the green velvet chair.

Daughters Are Sleepy. Eve opened up, but her brown eyes sparkled any day in the blue and white of American girls' dress.

Scientist a Good Cook. The intimate reference to mother brought out an interesting disclosure. The famous woman scientist can cook and sew and do both of them well, at that.

Our Dresses "Too Fancy." Madame Curie, Eve likes the American girls, but for their dresses, she thinks it is too fancy, too ornamental.

Madame Curie, Eve likes the American girls, but for their dresses, she thinks it is too fancy, too ornamental.

She is pretty, with a singular sort of spiritual beauty. Her eyes are big and blue, her hair light and curly.

Irene Pleads Fatigue. "I am very tired, and would like to be excused from a formal interview," Irene explained.

HARDING GETS TARIFF BILL

House Adopts Conference Report on Emergency Measure. Washington, May 23.—(By A. P.)—The House today adopted the conference report on the Emergency Tariff bill, which now goes to the President.

The House vote was 245 to 97 and it came after less than thirty minutes' debate, thus completing the measure's second trip through Congress since it was brought out last December 22.

Democracy who opposed the tariff bill in all its forms made little attempt to delay the final action.

FOURTH WARD VICE 'CLEAN-UP' ORDERED

Police Force Probe Halted on Admission District Is Crime Ridden

The investigation into charges of police laxity in the Fourth Ward, made by Mayor Moore by State Senator Samuel W. Salus, came to a dramatic close today when former Judge James Gay Gordon, representing the Mayor, declared his belief that crime does abound there and asserted that it would be driven out relentlessly.

These declarations were made by Mr. Gordon as he cut short a vitriolic letter Senator Salus tried to read before the Civil Service Commission, which began the probe at the direction of the Mayor.

Senator Salus pledged his co-operation in the campaign to clean up the Fourth Ward and said that vigorous action would be taken to drive out crime within forty-eight hours.

Clinton Rogers Woodruff, president of the commission, then declared the hearing adjourned, pending the outcome of the clean-up campaign.

Widow of Detective Heard. At the hearing, held in Room 406, City Hall, testimony was heard from Mrs. Mary A. McGinn, widow of Detective Joseph P. McGinn, slain recently in a raid on an alleged gambling resort.

Others who testified were Acting Captain John Graham, commanding the South Philadelphia police division; Lieutenant Patrick J. Conroy, in charge of the Fourth street and Snyder avenue station, and John W. Howler, an official of the Philadelphia Savings Fund Society.

A high point in the testimony was reached when Mr. Gordon grilled Lieutenant Conroy about conditions in his district and about alleged protection given gamblers downtown.

Senator Salus, who had been active in the examination of all the witnesses then arose and began reading the letter he had prepared. He was about half through when Dr. Gordon jumped to his feet.

The Mayor's counsel branded the letter as "mere vituperation" and said it offered the senator "an opportunity to defile the Mayor of our city."

Retaliation Threatened. "If we are to receive blows some one else will have blows to take care of," concluded Mr. Blair, who is rising in eloquent pitch.

Man With Four Children Says He Was Never Called to Register. Binghamton, May 23.—George Kaminsky, of Union, has retained an attorney to begin a damage suit against the United States Government for putting his name on the slacker list which has now been published all over the country.

Kaminsky's lawyer said that so far as he had been able to learn this is the first suit of the kind that has been started and that Kaminsky insists that his name be cleared and that he be given damages.

According to Kaminsky, he is thirty-one years old, the father of four children, and never was called upon to register. He also said he was not brought in touch with the army or naval service in such a way that would warrant his name being placed on the slacker list.

It also is alleged by Kaminsky's attorney that his case, together with others, was scheduled to come before the Federal Grand Jury next month, when warrants will be issued for all those whose names appear on the slacker lists for this section.

Kaminsky's attorney declares that he will make this a test case.

Unstamped Black Pussy Surprises Letter Collector. When J. Haas, a mail carrier, opened a mailbox at Twenty-ninth and Wharton streets this morning to collect the over-Sunday mail his hand encountered a soft and fuzzy ball, which suddenly bristled with sharp claws.

He peered into the box and saw two gleaming, green eyes. Mail carriers don't drink, consequently Haas wasn't used to seeing things like that.

He opened the box a little further and a black cat jumped out at him. There were no stamps on it, and no return address, so Haas gave it away. He said he was glad the mailbox isn't big enough to house a horse or cow.

Blunder in Slacker List. Family Whose Sons Served Indignant Over Mistake. Among those listed as deserters in the army slacker list released today in Dennis Green, 602 Haddon avenue, Collingswood.

At this address it was learned that the man named Isadore Green, who lives there, enlisted at the first call for volunteers. They are Lawrence, Louis and Isadore, Jr. No one named Dennis Green is known to the Green family any relative of that name.

Relatives of the three men who enlisted expressed indignation that their names should be mentioned as the address of a deserter.

Lawrence and Louis Green enlisted in the old Third Regiment of New Jersey and remained in the service until after the armistice was signed.

Isadore Green, Jr., served in the merchant marine during the war.

ANOTHER HONOR ROLL IN MOVIE BEAUTY CONTEST

Florence Nurock 1318 PRINCESS AVE. CAMDEN N. J.

Teresa C Sweeney 209 S 49th St

"HOW I SHOULD LIKE TO HAVE A CHANCE TO ACT IN MOVIES?"

Thousands and thousands of girls all over the country sigh and wish they had a chance to act in movies. This is the feeling of the girls who are in the "How I Should Like to Have a Chance to Act in Movies" contest.

These girls, with those whose photographs appear today in the Daily Movie Magazine, are on the honor roll in the contest to select three young women for ingenue roles in a new series of "Tommy" pictures.

Each of the girls who are in the contest will receive a letter from the studio, and if they are selected they will be given a chance to act in movies.

AMERICAN GOLFERS WIN IN ENGLISH AMATEUR TOURNEY

"Bobby" Jones, "Chick" Evans and Francis Ouimet Defeat British Rivalist

HUNT AND WRIGHT VICTORS; PLATT, HURT, OUT OF PLAY

Hoylake, England, May 23.—America's golf invaders came through nobly in the first round of the British amateur championship today.

All of the Yankee stars who played won their matches. An unfortunate accident kept J. Wood Platt, of Philadelphia, out of the competition. Platt had a fall and injured his leg, severely he was compelled to use crutches.

Robert T. ("Bobby") Jones, of Atlanta, the nineteen-year-old Southern champion, won the opening battle by defeating G. C. Manford, of Durham, N. C., 3 and 2.

Charles ("Chick") Evans, of Chicago, beat D. S. Crowther, of Coombe Hill, by 5 up and 4 to play.

Francis Ouimet, of Boston, defeated C. E. Dick, of the Royal Liverpool, by 3 up and 2 to play.

P. Hunt, of Texas, defeated A. C. Crichton, of Wallaby, by 3 up and 1 to play.

W. C. Fownes, Jr., of Pittsburgh, had a walkover owing to the fact that R. G. O. Hutchinson, of the Royal and Ancient, scratched.

W. L. Thompson, of America, lost to R. R. Burton, of Mid-Surrey, 3 up and 1 to play.

Two of the Americans, Jesse Guliford and L. Patton, will not start until tomorrow, having drawn bytes in the first round.

Among the English players, H. D. Armour, Lothianburn, defeated T. R. Orr, of Prestwick St. Nicholas, 4 up and 2 to play.

C. C. Aylmer, of Ranelagh, who defeated Dr. Paul Hunter, of Los Angeles, in Saturday's team match, won his match today with R. B. Foster, of Coombe Hill, 3 up and 1 to play.

Harold Hilton, former British amateur champion, defeated M. K. Foster, of Aberdovey, 5 up and 4 to play.

About 200 early risers were on the links at 8:30 o'clock, when Jones drove off the first ball.

The day opened much cooler than the last several days, with a breeze which made playing more enjoyable.

Jones started brilliantly, driving down the middle of the course, while Manford, his opponent, pulled into the rough. Following a fine iron shot, Jones took the first hole, 3 to 5, without being called to hole out.

Manford 1 up at Third. At the second hole Manford sank a seven-yard putt and evened the contest by taking the hole, 3 to 4. He scored a five-yard putt at the third.

RIOTING EGYPTIANS SLAY 5 EUROPEANS, WOUND 72

Widespread Disorder Follows Killing of Native by Greek. Alexandria, Egypt, May 23.—(By A. P.)—Five Europeans were killed and seventy-two others wounded in rioting here Sunday night and this morning. The police casualties were not given out.

British troops have arrived and taken charge of the town. It is rumored that the outbreak arose from the killing of a native by a Greek, which led to attacks by the natives and students on Greeks and other Europeans.

London, May 23.—(By A. P.)—A dispatch from Cairo to the Exchange Telegraph Co. reports many dead lying in the streets of Alexandria. One report states that two Europeans were drowned with petrol and burned in the streets.

A band of 1500 armed Bedouins, says the Cairo message, is reported to be advancing on Ramleh, five miles northeast of Alexandria, to participate in a general revolution, which but for the presence of the British may succeed. Cairo, adds the message, is in an excited state.

MEXICO BIG TEST OF HUGHES' POLICY

Must Temper Demands So That Obregon Can Accept, or Face Intervention

DOUBT O. K. OF FALL PLAN

Washington, May 23.—It was learned at the State Department today that George T. Summerlin, the American Charge d'Affaires at Mexico City, left here last night with the terms which the Administration proposed to make with Obregon as a condition of recognition.

That much of the story published this morning is true. The rest of it, that President Harding and Secretary Hughes were allowed closely the lines of the Fall policy, with regard to Mexico, seems to be a guess. This guess is described on good authority as not entirely accurate.

The nub of the whole question is whether or not the administration insists upon the signing of a treaty or protocol guaranteeing certain American interests in Mexico as a condition of recognition.

Information on whether Mr. Summerlin takes any such demand with him or not is refused. It is said that the essence of the Fall policy. It is also the point at which Obregon sticks. He is represented as willing to promise anything the Government wants, but not to sign such an agreement as Mr. Fall demanded.

Signing this would, in the Mexican view, derogate from the dignity of the country and impair its sovereignty. It is said that Obregon would collapse instantly if he signed such a treaty.

Notes May Suffice. Indications here have been right along that Mr. Harding and Mr. Hughes would not follow Secretary Fall to the extreme point of his policy.

Mr. Hughes may have been won over to the Fall policy. The influences, banking and otherwise, which are supporting Mr. Fall, have access to and great weight with the administration. On the other hand, Mr. Hughes does not readily change his position. And he is not likely to adopt a policy which would lead to the collapse of Obregon and the uncertainties of another revolution in Mexico.

A rumor here is that Mr. Hughes will be content with an exchange of notes, a sort of gentleman's agreement, instead of a treaty.

Obregon's Administration exists upon sufferance, his enemies, both conservative and radical, preferring to let him wrestle with the difficulty of relations with America rather than, either one of them, undertake the responsibility of refusing to meet the United States' terms or of accepting those terms.

Thus he continues in power with his opponents waiting for him to make a mistake which will enable them to take over the Government.

The only salvation for him seems to be to reach an agreement with the United States without at the same time making such concessions as the Mexican public will resent.

U. S. Cannot Wait. But the Harding Administration has no choice except to put up to Obregon the troublesome question of reaching an understanding with the United States in the midst of his difficulties.

Nothing is gained by waiting. Obregon's position does not improve. On the contrary, it grows worse, so much so that there is danger of his overthrow and a return to revolutionary conditions in Mexico while this Government is waiting. Moreover, the pressure upon this Administration to act is in an excited state.

'IT MUST NOT BE AGAIN,' HARDING PLEDGE TO DEAD

Wants America So Powerful in Righteousness None Will Dare Provoke Its Wrath

ADDRESS AT FUNERAL OF 5000 WAR VICTIMS

President's Eyes Brimmed With Tears as He Views Coffins at Hoboken

CEREMONY IS DRAMATIC

Guns Boom, Bells Toll for Executive on His Arrival at New York

By the Associated Press. New York, May 23.—"It must not be again!"

With these solemn words President Harding today laid a wreath on the coffin of the first American soldier to die on German soil, at a funeral ceremony for 5000 war dead at the army piers in Hoboken.

His voice husky and his eyes brimmed with tears, the President gazed at the rows and rows of coffins. Then he said:

"One hundred thousand sorrows are touching my heart. It must not be again! God grant that it will not be! I do not pretend that the millennial days have come and that there will be no more war. I would wish a nation so powerful in righteousness that none will dare to provoke its wrath."

Then, in the great army shed on the shores of the Hudson, with its stark, white-washed walls, there fell a silence profound and deep. Mr. Harding could be seen weeping softly as he looked upon the flag-draped coffins of those who had given their all for their country.

Then the President continued: "The Republic will never forget the sacrifices these men have made—whether they lie in the soil of the homeland or the crimsoned soil of the battlefield."

Text of Hoboken Speech. In his Hoboken address President Harding said:

There grows on me the realization of the magnitude of this occasion. Our Republic has been at war before; it has asked and received the supreme sacrifices of its sons and daughters. Many sons and daughters were made the sublime offering and went to hallowed graves as the nation's defenders.

But never before sent so many to battle under the flag in foreign land, never before was there the impressive spectacle of thousands of dead returned to find eternal resting places in the beloved homeland. The incident is without any parallel in history that I know.

These dead know nothing of our country today. They sense nothing of the sentiment or the tenderness which bring their wasted bodies to the homeland for burial, close to kin and friends and cherished associates. These poor bodies are but the clay tenements once possessed of souls which flamed in patriotic devotion, lighted new hopes on the battlegrounds of civilization and in their sacrifices sped on to serene eternity before the court of eternal justice.

Speaks Grateful Tribute. We are not met for them, though we love and honor and speak a grateful tribute. It would be futile to speak to those who do not hear, or to sorrow for those who cannot grieve, or to exalt those who cannot know. But we can speak for country. We can reach those who sorrow and grieve through their service, who suffered through their giving, who glory with the Republic through their heroic achievements, who rejoice in the civilization their heroism preserved.

Every funeral, every memorial, every tribute is for the living—and offering in compensation of sorrow. When the light of life goes out there is a new radiance in eternity, and somehow the glow of it relieves the darkness which is left behind.

Never a death, but somewhere a new life, never a sacrifice, but somewhere an atonement, never a service, but somewhere and somehow an achievement. These had served, which is the supreme inspiration in living. They have earned everlasting gratitude, which is the supreme solace in dying.

No one may measure the vast and varied affections and sorrows centered about these men.

5 BALLOONS FORCED DOWN

Remaining Four in National Contest Believed Over Ohio. Birmingham, Ala., May 23.—(By A. P.)—With the landing of the balloon Birmingham Semi-Centennial at Stuart, Va., early today, five of the nine gas bags which left here Saturday night in the national balloon Birmingham race had come to earth. Others were believed to be somewhere over Ohio, probably heading eastward.

The other balloons down are the "Army No. 1," which landed in a rainstorm at 3:10 P. M. yesterday near Columbia, Tenn.; the "City of Akron," the "Chamber of Commerce" of St. Louis, and the "City of Birmingham," which also were forced down yesterday near Nashville, Tenn.
